«... If it goes without saying that it is our duty to remember, it is also our obligation to speak the truth. The duty of remembrance cannot have value or exist, without obligation of truth.»

Speech during the Celebration of the 50th Anniversary of the Reunification of Cameroon, 20 February 2014 in Buea.
Cameroon is proud and honoured to host here in Yaoundé, the first ever annual Conference of International Council on Archives (ICA) to be held in Africa. This is a golden opportunity for our country to show proof of its legendary hospitality.

There is no gainsaying that the choice of Cameroon to host this event is tributary to the diplomacy of presence and participation advocated by President Paul BIYA and developed by our country. This is especially reflected in our membership to both International Organization of the Francophonie and the Commonwealth, as well as the Organization of the Islamic Conference. Cameroon’s openness to the world reinforces her bilingualism and multiculturalism, and allows her to engage with a large number of countries in Africa and around the world, just as it affirms her unwavering commitment to pan-African solidarity.

It remains clear that the holding of the ICA Conference on the Cameroonian soil is in line with the very high interest of the President of the Republic in the development of the Archives function in our various administrations and organizations. Undoubtedly, the emergence of Africa will depend on the capacity of our continent not only to better manage information but also to give a key priority to memory and heritage issues.

Under the theme “Archives: Governance, Memory and Heritage”, the Yaoundé Conference, whose importance is self-evident for Africa, internally falls in line with the initiatives and public policies that the Government of Cameroon deploys so as to put in place an efficient national archives management system.

Cameroon is therefore delighted that in this year 2018 the entire world archival community is in Yaoundé, which, throughout the organization and holding of this Conference, will be the world capital of archives.

The Government of the Republic of Cameroon fosters the active participation in this event of all actors in the public and private sectors, international organizations, non-governmental organizations, as well as regional and local authorities.

This is an opportunity to wish our guests a warm welcome to Cameroon, a haven of peace, dialogue and a land of opportunity.

\[\text{WORD OF WELCOME OF THE PRIME MINISTER OF CAMEROON}\]
On behalf of the International Council on Archives it is my great pleasure to welcome you to Yaoundé, Cameroon for the 2018 Annual Conference of the International Council on Archives. Each year, from around the world the ICA Conference attracts professionals from archives, records management and related industries to come together to exchange knowledge, ideas and international best practice. It is also the premier event on the professional calendar to strengthen networks and gather the ‘professional intelligence’ that enables each of us in the field to stay at the very forefront of developments from around the globe.

The venue for the 2018 event, in Cameroon, is important for ICA, and demonstrates our commitment to providing our colleagues from African nations every opportunity to develop the archives and records management profession across Africa. The conference will be a forum to share technical knowledge, but will also serve to promote the importance of archives and records management across the region as an essential requirement for good governance and effective public administration.

For our sponsors and partners, the conference represents a once a year opportunity to link with the most senior and influential members of the international community, from Government and non-Government institutions. It will be the venue to showcase new products and services, and forge new partnerships that will advance the profession and lead to exciting new services that benefit government and public alike.

I encourage you to realise the exciting prospects that this conference will offer, and I look forward to your participation in this significant international event.

DAVID FICKER
President of ICA

The International Council on Archives (ICA), founded in 1948 under the auspices of UNESCO, is a non-governmental organization funded by its members, whose work is linked to the activities of their very diverse members. Missions of the ICA are to promote preservation and access to archives worldwide by means of international cooperation.

With a strong global network, the International Council on Archives works with decision-makers at the highest level and collaborates closely with intergovernmental organizations such as UNESCO and the UN. It also has strong ties with other non-governmental organizations, such as the International Blue Shield Committee.

"By working to improve the management of archives, the ICA contributes to the safeguarding and enrichment of the memory of the world. With more than 2,000 members in 199 countries and territories, the Council’s ethos is to harness the cultural diversity of its membership so as to deliver effective solutions and a flexible, imaginative profession.” said David Leitch, ICA Strategic Advisor formerly the Secretary General.

ICA brings together national archives institutions, professional associations of archivists, regional and local archives, archives of other public and private organizations of all countries, and individual archivists.

For 70 years, the ICA has advocated for the effective management of archives and the physical protection of written heritage, to produce reputable standards and best practices, and to encourage dialogue, exchange, and transmission of this knowledge and expertise across national borders.

These aims are enshrined in four key points:

1 Encourage and support the development of archives in all countries, in co-operation with other organisations, including international agencies, governmental and non-governmental.

2 Promote, organize and co-ordinate best practice, the development of standards and other activities in the field of records and archives management.

3 Establish, maintain and strengthen relations between archivists of all countries and between all institutions, professional bodies and other organisations, public and private, wherever located, which are concerned with the administration or preservation of records and archives, or with the professional training of archivists, especially through the exchange of information.

4 Facilitate the interpretation and use of archives by making their content more widely known and by encouraging greater access to them.
Situated in the Gulf of Guinea, with a surface area of 475,000 square kilometres, Cameroon is a country in the heart of Africa with an opening on the Atlantic Ocean. By her geographical position, it is the natural gateway to Central Africa. Her human, cultural, ecological and geographic diversity made people rightly refer to her as Africa in miniature. This label is comforted by its multicultural nature. It is a bilingual country where French and English are the two official languages, alongside other languages such as German, Spanish, Chinese and very soon Italian, to name just a few. The country can boast a number of strengths, the most prominent of which can be summarize as follows:

Rule of law
Cameroon is a decentralized unitary State in which individual and collective freedoms are guaranteed. A secular State where many religions coexist peacefully, the country is a Republic that enjoys socio-political stability and a security situation under control. So many assets which, added to its legendary tradition of hospitality, make this country of nearly 23 million inhabitants one of African most popular destinations as far as the organisation of international events is concerned.

Remarkable international presence
At the international level, Cameroon has diversified its presence in multilateral bodies by pursuing a policy of membership of international organisations. Her bilingualism and religious diversity favourably militated for membership of the Organization of the Islamic Conference, the International Organisation of the Francophonie and the Commonwealth, making it the only country that belong simultaneously to these three organisations.

Undisputed leadership in the Central Africa subregion
Undisputed leadership in the Central Africa subregion By her geographical position, her population and her diversified economy, Cameroon is positioning itself as the powerhouse of the Economic and Monetary Community of Central Africa (CEMAC), a space whose objective is economic integration by facilitating the movement of goods and people between the Central African Republic, Congo, Gabon, Equatorial Guinea and Chad. Its GDP is the highest in the CEMAC zone, with 16.3 billion Euros in 2008, the average in Central Africa being 0.85 billion.

Huge cultural and tourism potential
The human, geographical and cultural diversity makes Cameroon a concentrate of Africa. This country has given the world great icons in sports, literature and many other talents. Officially Cameroon has 120 sites for tourism. Besides, two of its natural sites are classified as world heritage. Its hotel facilities are amongst the highest rated in sub-Saharan Africa.
